

Cannibalizing the Canon

Avant-Garde Critical Studies

Founding Editors

Ferd Drijckoningen†
Klaus Beekman

Series Editors

Paula Barreiro López
Hubert van den Berg
Günter Berghaus
Sascha Bru
Andrea Giunta
Agata Jakubowska

International Advisory Board

Henri Béhar – Sophie Berrebi – Ralf Grüttemeier –
Hilde Heynen – Leigh Landy – Ben Rebel – Jan de Vries –
Willem G. Weststeijn

VOLUME 42

The titles published in this series are listed at brill.com/agcs

Cannibalizing the Canon

Dada Techniques in East-Central Europe

Edited by

Oliver A. I. Botar (University of Manitoba)
Irina M. Denischenko (Georgetown University)
Gábor Dobó (Kassák Museum)
Merse Pál Szeredi (Kassák Museum)

BRILL

LEIDEN | BOSTON

This volume was supported by the Petőfi Literary Museum – Kassák Museum.

Cover image: Double-page spread from Új művészek könyve (Book of New Artists), edited by Lajos Kassák and László Moholy-Nagy (Vienna, 1922), with the reproduction of Francis Picabia's lost artwork Canibalisme, as well as photographs of a ship's propeller ("dokk") and an electric clock ("villanyóra"). Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum – Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum – Kassák Museum.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Names: Botar, Oliver A. I. (Oliver Arpad Istvan), 1957- editor. |

Denischenko, Irina, editor. | Dobó, Gábor, 1987- editor. | Szeredi

Merse, Pál, editor.

Title: Cannibalizing the canon : Dada techniques in East-Central Europe / edited by Oliver A. I. Botar (University of Manitoba), Irina M.
Denischenko (Georgetown University), Gábor Dobó (Kassák Museum),
Merse Pál Szeredi (Kassák Museum).

Description: Leiden ; Boston : Brill, 2024. | Series: Avant-garde critical studies, 1387-3008 ; volume 42 | Includes index.

Identifiers: LCCN 2023055060 (print) | LCCN 2023055061 (ebook) | ISBN
9789004526730 (hardback) | ISBN 9789004526747 (ebook)

Subjects: LCSH: East European literature--20th century--History and criticism. | Dadaist literature, East European--History and criticism. |
Literature, Experimental--Europe, Eastern--History and criticism. |
LCGFT: Literary criticism. | Essays.

Classification: LCC PN849.E9 C36 2024 (print) | LCC PN849.E9 (ebook) |
DDC 891.09/04--dc23/eng/20231220

LC record available at <https://lcn.loc.gov/2023055060>

LC ebook record available at <https://lcn.loc.gov/2023055061>

Typeface for the Latin, Greek, and Cyrillic scripts: "Brill". See and download: brill.com/brill-typeface.

ISSN 1387-3008

ISBN 978-90-04-52673-0 (hardback)

ISBN 978-90-04-52674-7 (e-book)

Copyright 2024 by Koninklijke Brill nv, Leiden, The Netherlands.

Koninklijke Brill nv incorporates the imprints Brill, Brill Nijhoff, Brill Schöningh, Brill Fink, Brill mentis, Brill Wageningen Academic, Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, Böhlau and V&R unipress.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, translated, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without prior written permission from the publisher. Requests for re-use and/or translations must be addressed to Koninklijke Brill nv via brill.com or copyright.com.

This book is printed on acid-free paper and produced in a sustainable manner.

For Michalina Kmiecik

Contents

List of Illustrations XI
Notes on Contributors XXI

Introduction: “Dada Is More than Dada” 1
Oliver A. I. Botar, Irina M. Denischenko, Gábor Dobó and Merse Pál Szeredi

PART 1

Topographies

- 1 An Exchange Point in a Network: Prague and Dada, 1918–1922 27
Jindřich Toman
- 2 Becoming Avant-Garde: Romanian Appropriations of Dada Techniques
through East-Central European Networking 38
Emanuel Modoc
- 3 Polish Responses to Dadaism: The Voices on Dada, Contacts and Interpretations 55
Przemysław Strożek
- 4 The Dada Entr’acte of Dragan Aleksić 77
Jasna Jovanov
- 5 Hungarian Dada: the Missing Link 105
András Kappanyos

PART 2

In/Exclusions

- 6 Céline Arnould, the “Nomadic” Avant-Garde Writer: a Transnational Approach to Her Life and Work 129
Iulia Dondorici

- 7 Two Mysterious “Mademoiselles”: Jeanne Rigaud and Maria Cantarelli
A Multilingual Multi-Layered Dada Pun Unravelled? 150
Hubert van den Berg
- 8 Dada as an Avant-Garde Movement and as Invective 167
Károly Kókai
- 9 “Dada Is the Best Paying Concern of the Day”: Consumer Culture, Performativity, and the Avant-Garde in Romania 190
Alexandra Chiriac

PART 3

Performativities

- 10 Marcel Breuer and Dada Performance: Remade Readymade Self and Furniture 221
Edit Tóth
- 11 Míra Holzbachová: Embodying the Avant-Garde 250
Meghan Forbes
- 12 To Write with Dots or Not to Write at All? Dada Ideas in Polish Interwar
Literature 288
Michalina Kmiecik
- 13 Green Donkey Theatre: a Case Study on Theatrical Innovations in the Name of Dadaism 308
Sára Bagdi and Judit Galács

PART 4

Trans(pos)itions

- 14 The Genesis of Dada: Futurist Influences in Germany, Romania and at the Cabaret Voltaire 335
Günter Berghaus
- 15 Revolt and Authority: From Kassák to Erdély
Dada in the Hungarian Avant-Garde and Neo-Avant-Garde 353
Éva Forgács

- 16 Dadá, not Dáda: Moholy-Nagy in Berlin, 1920–1921 372
Oliver A. I. Botar
- 17 Words, Sounds, Images, Theories: the Authors of the Magazine rs in the Context of Dadaism 444
Imre József Balázs
- 18 Self-Positioning in the International Avant-Garde: Kassák's Strategic Use of Dada and Constructivism in the Book of New Artists 459
Krisztina Zsófia Csaba

PART 5

Hybridities

- 19 Raoul Hausmann and the Welteislehre: Science and Identity 493
Arndt Niebisch
- 20 Dada Lingua Franca: The Linguistic Fate of Tristan Tzara and Raoul Hausmann 510
Alexandru Bar and Michael White
- 21 Crossovers and Transgressions: Dada as a Life Strategy in Emil Szittyá's Works 552
Magdolna Gucsa
- 22 Android, Cyborg, Dandy and Woman
Representations of the Body in the Decadent and Dada Imaginations: the Hungarian and International Contexts 586
Györgyi Földes
- 23 The New Man, According to Sándor Bortnyik 600
Merse Pál Szeredi
- Index 627

Illustrations

- 0.1 Francis Picabia, Manifeste cannibale Dada. Hungarian translation by Pál Szegi, c. 1925. Manuscript. Budapest, Collection of the Hungarian National Bank, long-term loan in the Museum of Fine Arts – Central European Research Institute for Art History, inv. no. MNB. ADT.2017.7.204.1. Photo: Museum of Fine Arts 7
- 0.2 Francis Picabia's lost artwork Canibalisme. Ma, vol. 7, no. 5–6, 1922. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum – Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum – Kassák Museum 10
- 3.1 Marcel Slodki, Poster for the Opening of Künstlerkneipe Voltaire, 1916. Print on paper, 110.5 × 63.3 cm. Zurich, Kunsthhaus Zurich, inv. no. 1992/39. Photo: Kunsthhaus Zurich 56
- 3.2 Polish translation of Hans Arp's poem. Formiści, vol. 2, no. 6, 1921. Warsaw, Institute of Art of the Polish Academy of Sciences. Photo: Institute of Art of the Polish Academy of Sciences 60
- 3.3 Stanisław Ignacy Witkiewicz, Papierek lakmusowy (Litmus Paper). Zakopane: Druk. "Polonia", 1921. Warsaw, Polish National Library, inv. no. DŹS XVIIIB 4a. Photo: Polona Digital Library 62
- 3.4 Kurt Schwitters, "Dadaizm" (Dadaism). Blok, vol. 1, no. 6–7, 1924. Warsaw, Institute of Art of the Polish Academy of Sciences. Photo: Institute of Art of the Polish Academy of Sciences 67
- 3.5 L'Art Contemporain – Sztuka Współczesna, vol. 1, no. 3, 1930. Cover design by Hans Arp. Dresden, Archiv der Avantgarden – Staatliche Kunstsammlungen Dresden. Photo: Archiv der Avantgarden – Staatliche Kunstsammlungen Dresden. © HUNGART 2023 70
- 3.6 Jan Brzękowski, W drugiej osobie (In the Other Person). [Łódź]: Biblioteka "a. r.", 1933. Cover design by Hans Arp. Dresden, Archiv der Avantgarden – Staatliche Kunstsammlungen Dresden. Photo: Archiv der Avantgarden – Staatliche Kunstsammlungen Dresden. © HUNGART 2023 71
- 3.7 Kurt Schwitters, Composition MZ 194, 1921. Collage on paper, 14.2 × 11.5 cm. Łódź, Muzeum Sztuki, inv. no. MS/SN/RYS/2. Photo: Muzeum Sztuki 72
- 3.8 The Permanent Exhibition of the International Collection of Modern Art of the "a.r.". Group at the J. and K. Bartoszewicz Municipal Museum of History and Art in Łódź. Photo: Włodzimierz Pfeiffer, 1932. Łódź, Muzeum Sztuki, Archives. Photo: Muzeum Sztuki 73
- 4.1 Unknown photographer, Portrait of Dragan Aleksić, undated. Photo on paper, 8 × 5 cm. Novi Sad, Matica Srpska, inv. no. CLXXXVII-30. Photo: Manuscript Department of Matica Srpska 78

- 4.2 Page with Richard Huelsenbeck's Poem. Dada Tank, 1922. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum, inv. no. KM-1920. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 82
- 4.3 Ádám Csont [Antal Hidas], "Smaknu" (Execution). Dada Jazz, 1922. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum, inv. no. KM-1835. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 83
- 4.4 Dada Jok, 1922. Front page. Belgrade, National Library of Serbia, inv. no. LjM 578. Photo: National Library of Serbia 86
- 4.5 Mihailo S. Petrov, Self-portrait with Pipe, 1921. Linoleum cut on paper, 25 × 19.8 cm. Novi Sad, Matica Srpska, inv. no. GMS/U 4108. Photo: The Gallery of Matica Srpska 92
- 4.6 Mihailo S. Petrov, Enchanted Circles, 1921. Linoleum cut on paper, 21.6 × 18.5 cm. Novi Sad, Matica Srpska, inv. no. GMS/U 4111. Photo: The Gallery of Matica Srpska 93
- 4.7 Mihailo S. Petrov, Composition II, 1921. Linoleum cut on paper, 18.7 × 18 cm. Novi Sad, Matica Srpska, inv. no. GMS/U 4112. Photo: The Gallery of Matica Srpska 95
- 5.1 Lajos Kassák, "Romboljatok hogy építhessetek és építsetek hogy győzhessetek" (Destroy so That You Can Build and Build so That You Can Win). Ma, vol. 8, no. 1, 1922. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. © HUNGART 113
- 5.2 Ma, vol. 6, no. 4, 1921. Front page with the composition of an unknown artist. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 119
- 5.3 Ma, vol. 6, no. 5, 1921. Front page with the Composition of Lajos Kassák. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. © HUNGART 120
- 5.4 Lajos Kassák, "Képköltemények" (Image Poems). Ma, vol. 7, no. 3, 1922. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. © HUNGART 121
- 5.5 Lajos Kassák, Falak/Bruits, c. 1920. Collage on paper, 14.8 × 10.7 cm. Nuremberg, Neues Museum, inv. no. N 435. Photo: Neues Museum, Annette Kradisch. © HUNGART 123
- 5.6 Tristan Trzara, Gáz-szív (Gas Heart). Vienna: GG Kunstbücher, 1921. Front page designed by Lajos Kassák. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum, inv. no. KM-1857. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. © HUNGART 124
- 8.1 Sándor Barta, "A zöldfejű ember" (The Green-headed Man). Ma, vol. 6, no. 3, 1921. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 174

- 8.2 Sándor Barta, “Az őrültek első összejövetele a szemetesládában” (The First Gathering of the Mad in a Garbage Bin). Akasztott Ember, vol. 1, no. 1, 1922. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 177
- 8.3 Tior Déry, Ámokfutó (Amok Runner), 1921–1922. Collage manuscript. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum 178
- 9.1 Announcement for a Victor Brauner Exhibition in Bucharest. 75 HP, 1924. Photo: Digibuc.ro 199
- 9.2 Advertisements. Contimporanul, vol. 2, no. 28, 1923. Photo: Digibuc.ro 200
- 9.3 Marcel and Iuliu Iancu, The Suchard Pavilion, 1926. Contimporanul, vol. 5, no. 67, 1926. Photo: Digibuc.ro 201
- 9.4 M. H. Maxy and Corneliu Michăilescu, Advertisements. Integral, vol. 1, no. 5, 1925. Photo: Digibuc.ro 203
- 9.5 Victor Brauner, Advertisement for Tungstram Light Bulbs. Integral, vol. 2, no. 9, 1926. Photo: Digibuc.ro 204
- 9.6 Advertisements. Periszkóp, vol. 1, no. 1, 1925. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum 205
- 9.7 “Avant-garde Bucharest: A House Built in the Modern style”. Illustrated Feature on Marcel Iancu’s Jean Fuchs Villa. Realitatea ilustrată, 9 January 1930. Photo: Digibuc.ro 206
- 9.8 The Showroom of the Academy of Decorative Arts. Integral, vol. 2, no. 9, 1926. Photo: Digibuc.ro 209
- 9.9 M. H. Maxy, Set Design for The Sentimental Mannequin, Act II, c. 1926. Pencil, ink, and watercolour on paper, 21 × 25 cm. Bucharest, National Art Museum of Romania, inv. no. 10569. Photo: National Art Museum of Romania 210
- 10.1 Unknown photographer, Marcel Breuer as girl with magnolia, 1924. Photocollage, 24.8 × 32.2 cm. Berlin, Bauhaus-Archiv / Museum für Gestaltung, inv. no. 2081. Photo: Bauhaus-Archiv / Museum für Gestaltung 222
- 10.2 Erich Consemüller, Breuer and his harem (from left to right: Marcel Breuer, Marta Erps-Breuer, Katt Both and Ruth Hollos-Consemüller), 1927. Photograph, 54 × 82 mm. Dessau, Stiftung Bauhaus, inv. no. I 46052/1. Photo: Stiftung Bauhaus Dessau © Stephan Consemüller 223
- 10.3 Erich Consemüller, Bauhäusler in Marcel Breuer’s B3 Club armchair, 1926. Photograph, 181 × 130 mm. Dessau, Stiftung Bauhaus, inv. no. I 46145/1. Photo: Stiftung Bauhaus Dessau © Stephan Consemüller 224
- 10.4 Marcel Breuer, Untitled, 1922. Watercolour on vat, 33 × 19.6 cm. Berlin, Bauhaus-Archiv / Museum für Gestaltung, inv. no. 2600. Photo: Bauhaus-Archiv / Museum für Gestaltung. © Thomas Breuer 226

- 10.5 Marcel Breuer, Woman's dressing table, Haus am Horn, Weimar, 1923. Oak and lemon wood, 167.9 × 126.5 × 48 cm. Berlin, Staatliche Bildstelle, inv. no. F6778. Photo: Staatliche Bildstelle. © Thomas Breuer 228
- 10.6 Unknown photographer, Marcel Breuer's B4 Folding chair, 1926. Photograph. Syracuse, Syracuse University Libraries, Special Collections Research Center, Marcel Breuer Papers. Photo: Syracuse University Libraries 238
- 10.7 Unknown photographer, Marcel Breuer's B3 Club armchair, 1927–1928. Photograph. Syracuse, Syracuse University Libraries, Special Collections Research Center, Marcel Breuer Papers. Photo: Syracuse University Libraries 241
- 10.8 Ludwig Hohlwein, Poster for Victoria Fahrräder, 1926. Ludwig Hohlwein. Ed. H. K. Frenzel. Berlin: Phönix, 1926, [329]. Dresden, Sächsische Landesbibliothek – Staats- und Universitätsbibliothek Dresden, inv. no. 38.4.737. Photo: SLUB Dresden Digitale Sammlungen 243
- 10.9 Unknown photographer, Marcel Breuer in his B3 Club armchair, c. 1927. Photograph. Syracuse, Syracuse University Libraries, Special Collections Research Center, Marcel Breuer Papers. Photo: Syracuse University Libraries 246
- 11.1 Cast of the dancer Míra Holzbachová's leg. Exhibited at the House of the Artists, Prague, 1926. Prague, National Museum Archives, Fond Míra Holzbachová, file number H6p-3/85. Photo: National Museum Archives 251
- 11.2 Antonín Heythum, Photomontage dedicated to Míra Holzbachová, 1926. Collage on paper, 20.9 × 19.7 cm. Prague, National Museum Archives, Fond Míra Holzbachová, file number H6p-3/85. Photo: National Museum Archives 252
- 11.3 Poster for a Liberated Theatre performance dedicated to Míra Holzbachová. Divadlo na Slupi, Prague, 11 March 1926. Prague, National Museum Archives, Fond Míra Holzbachová, file number H6p-3/85. Photo: National Museum Archives 255
- 11.4 Photos of Míra Holzbachová. Pestrý týden, vol. 2, no. 4, 1927. Prague, Museum of Decorative Arts. Photo: Museum of Decorative Arts 259
- 11.5 Photos of Míra Holzbachová. ReD, vol. 1, no. 7, 1928. Private collection. Photo: Private collection 263
- 11.6 Page from Schule Hellerau. Undated illustrated album. Prague, Museum of Czech Literature, Fond Míra Holzbachová, file number 175, 76/85. Photo: Museum of Czech Literature 265
- 11.7 Programme for Míra Holzbachová's Večer pantomim (Night of Pantomimes). City Chamber Theatre, Prague, 13 April 1933. Prague, National Museum Archives, Fond Míra Holzbachová, file number H6p-3/85. Photo: National Museum Archives 267

- 11.8 Poster for Clown čokoláda (Chocolate clown). Nové avantgardní divadlo (New Avant-Garde Theatre), Unitaria Theatre, Prague, 6 December 1933. Prague, National Museum Archives, Fond Míra Holzbachová, file number H6p-3/85. Photo: National Museum Archives 269
- 11.9 Poster for Taneční večer míry holzbachové a její školy (A dance evening of Míra Holzbachová and her school). Mozarteum, Prague, 9 April 1932. Prague, National Museum Archives, Fond Míra Holzbachová, file number H6p-3/85. Photo: National Museum Archives 271
- 11.10 Poster for Míra Holzbachová donnera son unique recital de danse (Míra Holzbachová gives a unique dance recital). Théâtre de le Porte Saint-Martin, Paris, 23 March 1938. Prague, National Museum Archives, Fond Míra Holzbachová, file number H6p-3/85. Photo: National Museum Archives 272
- 11.11 Programme for Míra Holzbachová's Unique recital de danse (A unique dance recital). Théâtre de le Porte Saint-Martin, Paris, 23 March 1938. Prague, National Museum Archives, Fond Míra Holzbachová, file number H6p-3/85. Photo: National Museum Archives 273
- 11.12 Míra Holzbachová performing as "Madame Europe", here ill with Fascism. Cutting from an article by Petr Smrž, "Umění žít", Květy 21, no. 15 (17 April 1971): 41. Prague, National Museum Archives, Fond Míra Holzbachová, file number H6p-3/85. Photo: National Museum Archives 276
- 11.13 Unknown photographer, Míra Holzbachová, "Javanese motifs" (Javanské motivy), 1932. Photograph. Prague, National Museum Archives, Fond Míra Holzbachová, file number H6p-3/85. Photo: National Museum Archives 278
- 11.14 Photo plates in 10 let Osvobozeného divadlo, 1927–1937 (Ten years of the Liberated Theatre, 1927–1937). Prague: Fr. Borový, 1937. Private collection. Photo: Private collection 281
- 11.15 "War Christmas 1942". Holiday greeting. Prague, National Museum Archives, Fond Míra Holzbachová, file number H6p-3/85. Photo: National Museum Archives 282
- 13.1 Sándor Bortnyik, A zöld szamár (The Green Donkey), 1924. Oil on canvas, 60 × 55 cm. Budapest, Museum of Fine Arts – Hungarian National Gallery, inv. no. 64.84 T. Photo: Museum of Fine Arts – Hungarian National Gallery. © HUNGART 2023 309
- 13.2 Sándor Bortnyik, Poster of Zöld Szamár Színház (Green Donkey Theatre), 1925. Lithograph on paper, 61,5 × 93,5 cm. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum, inv. no. KM-3017. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. © HUNGART 2023 311
- 13.3 Stage photo of the Green Donkey Theatre's performance of Yvan Goll's The New Orpheus. Színházi Élet, vol. 15, no. 14, 1925. Budapest, Petőfi

- Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 312
- 13.4 Sándor Bényi [pseud. Sándor Bortnyik], A polgári társadalom hierarchiája (The Hierarchy of Bourgeois Society). Ék, vol. 1, no. 3, 1923. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. © HUNGART 2023 313
- 13.5 Stage photo of the Green Donkey Theatre's performance of Jean Cocteau's The Wedding on the Eiffel Tower. Színházi Élet, vol. 15, no. 14, 1925. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 315
- 13.6 Stage photo of the Green Donkey Theatre's performance of Jean Cocteau's The Wedding on the Eiffel Tower. Színházi Élet, vol. 15, no. 14, 1925. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 316
- 13.7 Sándor Bortnyik's stage design to the Green Donkey Theatre's performance of Jean Cocteau's The Wedding on the Eiffel Tower. Ma Este, 2 April 1925. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 318
- 13.8 Stage photos of the Green Donkey Theatre's performance of Jean Cocteau's The Wedding on the Eiffel Tower. Ma Este, 2 April 1925. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 318
- 14.1 Revolution, vol. 1, no. 1, 1913. Photo: International Dada Archive – University of Iowa Libraries 336
- 14.2 An advert in the Berlin press for a performance by Emmy Hennings as a “Danish Futurist”. Berliner Zeitung am Mittag, May 1912. Photo: Günter Berghaus 338
- 14.3 Tristan Tzara, Dada soulève tout. Paris: Au Sans pareil, 1921, distributed during Marinetti's lecture at the Théâtre de l'Œuvre on his latest Tactilist experiments. Photo: Locus Solus Rare Books / James Goldwasser 345
- 15.1 Unknown photographer, Portrait of Lajos Kassák, 1922. Photograph, 8.5 × 6 cm. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum, inv. no. F.112 Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum 355
- 16.1 László Moholy-Nagy, Neue Gravitation (New Gravitation), undated [1920]. Oil on canvas, 93.5 × 74 cm. New York, Villanueva Collection. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 383
- 16.2 László Moholy-Nagy, Study for Neue Gravitation (New Gravitation), undated [1920]. Collage and ink on paper, 59.5 × 46.5 cm. Düsseldorf, Museum Kunstpalast, inv. no. K 1956–43. Photo: Arthotek 384
- 16.3 László Moholy-Nagy, “Die” Collage, undated [1920]. Collage on paper, 31 × 22 cm. New York, Villanueva Collection. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 387

- 16.4 László Moholy-Nagy, Europa Bild (Europe Picture), undated. Collage on paper, 35 × 20 cm. New York, Karl With Collection. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 389
- 16.5 László Moholy-Nagy, Dada Collage, undated [c. 1920]. Ink and collage on paper, 29.3 × 23.2 cm. Formerly London, Marlborough Fine Art Ltd. Present whereabouts unknown. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 390
- 16.6 László Moholy-Nagy, Das grosse Rad (The Great Wheel), undated [1920]. Oil on canvas, 100.1 × 79.9 cm. Eindhoven, Van Abbemuseum, inv. no. 1965.337. Photo: from the archive of Oliver Botar. Used with permission 391
- 16.7 László Moholy-Nagy, Ackerfelderbild (Tilled Fields Painting), undated [1920]. Oil on canvas, 64.5 × 75.5 cm. Vienna, Albertina Museum, long-term loan from the Forberg Collection. Photo: Albertina Museum 393
- 16.8 László Moholy-Nagy, F in Feld (F in Field), 1920. Gouache on paper with collage elements applied, 22 × 17.7 cm. Private collection. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 395
- 16.9 László Moholy-Nagy, Grosses Ackerfeldbild mit Konstruktion (Large Tilled Field Painting with Construction), undated [1921]. Tempera on cardboard (?), dimensions unknown. Whereabouts unknown. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 398
- 16.10 László Moholy-Nagy, Sketch for Aschengraben (Ash Ditches), undated [1920]. Charcoal on heavy cream paper, 42.1 × 52 cm. Rotterdam, Rijkscollectie voor Nederlands Architectuur en Stedenbouw, Het nieuwe Instituut, inv. no. BKVE t26. Photo: Het nieuwe Instituut 401
- 16.11 László Moholy-Nagy, Grosses Eisenbahnbild (Large Railway Painting), undated [c. 1921]. Oil on linen, 100 × 77 cm. Madrid, Museo Thyssen-Bornemisza, inv. no. 1974.41. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar. Used with permission 403
- 16.12 László Moholy-Nagy, Eisenbahnbild (Railway Picture), undated [c. 1921]. Oil on canvas (?), dimensions unknown. Whereabouts unknown. Vintage photograph: Paris, Fondation Le Corbusier, inv. no. A1-14-369. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 404
- 16.13 László Moholy-Nagy, Brücken (Bridges), dated 1920 [1921]. Oil on canvas, 94 × 71 cm. Saarbrücken, Saarland Museum, Stiftung Saarländischer Kulturbesitz, inv. no. NI 3750. Photo: Art Resource, New York 405
- 16.14 László Moholy-Nagy, Bild 19 (Picture 19), 1921. Oil on canvas, 111.8 × 92.7 cm. Cambridge (MA), Harvard Art Museums – Busch-Reisinger Museum, inv. no. BR53.44 (Gift of Sibyl Moholy-Nagy). Photo: Busch-Reisinger Museum 406
- 16.15 László Moholy-Nagy, Magische Zahl (Magic Number), undated [c. 1920]. Ink, chalk and mixed media with collage on paper, 38 × 24 cm. Private collection. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 408

- 16.16 László Moholy-Nagy, Posit, undated [ca. 1920]. Ink, watercolour and mixed media on paper, dimensions unknown. Whereabouts unknown. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 408
- 16.17 László Moholy-Nagy, IK 33, undated [1921]. Collage and watercolour on paper, 33.5 × 23.5 cm. Dedication: "Kállai Ernőnek szeretettel" (To Ernő Kállai with affection). Berlin, Staatliche Museen zu Berlin, Kupferstichkabinett, inv. no. NG 31/62. Photo: Art Resource, New York 411
- 16.18 László Moholy-Nagy, Perpe, undated [1921]. Gouache on paper, 60 × 50 cm. Private collection. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 415
- 16.19 László Moholy-Nagy, R Collage, undated [1921]. Watercolour and collage on paper, 62.3 × 46.5 cm. Private collection. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 416
- 16.20 László Moholy-Nagy, N – Bewegung (N – Movement), undated [1921]. Ink, watercolour and collage on paper, 58.5 × 43 cm. Whereabouts unknown. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 417
- 16.21 László Moholy-Nagy, h – Rampe (h – Ramp), undated [1921]. Pen, ink and watercolour on paper, 48 × 36.2 cm. Belgrade, National Museum of Serbia, inv. no. 1312. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 418
- 16.22 László Moholy-Nagy, D (D – Composition), undated [1921]. Gouache and ink on collage on paper, 49.5 × 35 cm. Dedication: "Für Hannah Höch" (For Hannah Höch). Norwich, University of East Anglia Collection of Abstract and Constructivist Art, Sainsbury Centre for Visual Arts, inv. no. 31211. Photo: Sainsbury Centre for Visual Arts 419
- 16.23 László Moholy-Nagy, E Bild (E Picture), undated [1921]. Oil and graphite on burlap, 66 × 51 cm. Whereabouts unknown. Photo: from the archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 425
- 16.24 László Moholy-Nagy, Relief H, undated [c. 1921], Mixed media on board, dimensions unknown. Whereabouts unknown. Vintage copy photograph: Ann Arbor, Moholy-Nagy Foundation. Photo: from the Archive of Oliver A. I. Botar 426
- 17.1 IS, vol. 1, no. 1, 1924. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 445
- 18.1 Új művészek könyve (Book of New Artists). Eds. Lajos Kassák and László Moholy-Nagy. Vienna: Julius Fischer Verlag, 1922. Cover page designed by Lajos Kassák. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 460
- 18.2 Buch neuer Künstler (Book of New Artists). Eds. Lajos Kassák and László Moholy-Nagy. Vienna: Julius Fischer Verlag, 1922. Cover page designed by Lajos Kassák. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 462

- 18.3 Double-page spread from Új művészek könyve (Book of New Artists): Apollo racing car, Umberto Boccioni's Painting, and a Dynamo. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 466
- 18.4 Double-page spread from Új művészek könyve (Book of New Artists): An Electric Fan, and Artworks by Erich Buchholz and Lajos Kudlák. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 467
- 18.5 Double-page spread from Új művészek könyve (Book of New Artists): A Bridge Over the Vistula, and Artworks by Kazimir Malevich and El Lissitzky. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 469
- 18.6 Lajos Kassák's Manuscript, undated [1921/1922]. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum, inv. no. KM-an. 234/2. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 471
- 18.7 Lajos Kassák's Manuscript, undated [1921/1922]. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum, inv. no. KM-an. 234/1. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 473
- 18.8 Double-page spread from Új művészek könyve (Book of New Artists): Artworks by Hans Richter and Viking Eggeling. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 476
- 18.9 Table of Contents of Új művészek könyve (Book of New Artists). Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 479
- 21.1 Unknown photographer, Portrait of Emil Szittyá, c. 1900. Photograph, 10.5 × 6 cm. Note on the verso: "Szittyá. Le poète vagabond à 20 ans". Paris, Librairie Hutin. Photo: Zoltán Földvári 561
- 21.2 László Moholy-Nagy, Caricature of Emil Szittyá in Café New York, 1918. Pencil on postcard, 13.9 × 9 cm. Private collection. Photo: Ani Rivera / Salgo Trust for Education 562
- 21.3 Der Mistral, vol. 1, no. 1, 1915. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 565
- 21.4 Member list of the Institut franco-allemand pour la réconciliation (French-German Society of Reconciliation), Paris, 1913. Private collection. Photo: György Darányi 578
- 23.1 Sándor Bortnyik, Az új Ádám (The New Adam), 1924. Oil on canvas, 48 × 38 cm. Budapest, Museum of Fine Arts – Hungarian National Gallery, inv. no. 64.85 T. Photo: Museum of Fine Arts–Hungarian National Gallery.

© HUNGART 2023 601

- 23.2 Sándor Bortnyik, Az új Éva (The New Eve), 1926, Oil on canvas, 49 × 39 cm. Budapest, Museum of Fine Arts – Hungarian National Gallery, inv. no. 64.86 T. Photo: Museum of Fine Arts–Hungarian National Gallery. © HUNGART 2023 602
- 23.3 Kurt Schmidt, Stage Design for the Mechanische Ballett (Mechanical Ballet), 1923. Oskar Schlemmer, László Moholy-Nagy, and Farkas Molnár. Die Bühne am Bauhaus. München: Albert Langen Verlag, 1925. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 606
- 23.4 Hans Richter, Abstract Film-Still. Ma, vol. 8, no. 5–6, 1923. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 607
- 23.5 László Moholy-Nagy, Üvegarchitektúra (Glass Architecture). Ma, vol. 7, no. 5–6, 1922. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 609
- 23.6 El Lissitzky, Proun 1^c, 1919. De Stijl, vol. 5, no. 6, 1922. Photo: International Advertising and Design Database 610
- 23.7 Karl Peter Röhl, Zusammenstoß des natürlichen und mechanischen Menschen in Weimar (Meeting of the Natural and Mechanical Man in Weimar). Mécano, vol. 1, no. 2 (Blue), 1922. Photo: International Advertising and Design Database 612
- 23.8 Stage Photo from the 1924 Budapest show of Karel Čapek's R.U.R. Színházi Élet, vol. 14, no. 8, 1924. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 614
- 23.9 Sándor Bortnyik, Two Photomontages from the Zöld Szamár Album (Green Donkey Album). Új Föld, vol. 1, no. 1, 1927. Budapest, Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum. Photo: Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum 615
- 23.10 George Grosz, Der neue Mensch (The New Man), 1920. Watercolour on paper, 50.8 × 34.6 cm. Private collection. Photo: Christie's Images/Bridgeman Images. © HUNGART 2023 617

Notes on Contributors

Sára Bagdi

has been working at the Kassák Museum–Petőfi Literary Museum since 2021 as junior research fellow in the framework of the research project “Digital Critical Edition of the Correspondence of Lajos Kassák and Jolán Simon between 1909 and 1928, and New Perspectives for Modernism Studies” (OTKA FK-139325). At the Kassák Museum she co-curated the exhibition Wonderful Story? An Avant-Garde Artist Couple: Erzsébet Újvári and Sándor Barta in 2022. She received an MA from the Department of Art History of Eötvös Loránd University in 2018 and completed her MA studies in Aesthetics at the same university in 2019. Currently she is a PhD student in Budapest, partially pursuing her research at the University of Hamburg as a German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) scholarship holder. Her research areas include workers’ culture between the two world wars, primitivism and the history of left-wing ideas.

Imre József Balázs

is Associate Professor at the Department of Hungarian Literature at Babeş-Bolyai University, Cluj, Romania; research fellow at the Lucian Blaga University of Sibiu; and editor of the cultural review Korunk since 1999. His major publications include Az avantgárd az erdélyi magyar irodalomban (The Avant-garde in Transylvanian Hungarian Literature, 2006; Romanian translation by Kocsis Francisko, 2009); Avant-garde and Representations of Communism in Hungarian Literature from Romania (2009); A szürrealizmus története a magyar irodalmi mezőben (The History of Surrealism in the Hungarian Literary Field, 2021). He is also the author of book chapters and articles on Surrealism in English, French, German and Italian.

Alexandru Bar

is a Research Associate in the Department of History of Art at the University of York. His work is trans-disciplinary and trans-national, combining art history, cultural history, and Jewish studies. He earned his MA at Tel Aviv University in Israel (on a Masa scholarship) and his PhD at the University of Leeds in the United Kingdom (on an Arts and Humanities Research Council-funded scholarship with the project “Performing Jewish Archives”). His research explores the rarely examined relationship between Tristan Tzara and Marcel Janco, their thinking and language. He seeks a renewed consideration of the symbolic substance of Tzara’s and Janco’s Jewish experience and the role it played in defining their national identity. His most recent research project provides an original account of the life and creative endeavours of Marcel Janco after 1940, with the aim of creating a more comprehensive understanding of Janco's Jewish identity and the influence of suffering and disillusionment on his introspective exploration of art.

Hubert van den Berg

is Professor of Literary Studies in the Department of Dutch Studies at Palacký University in Olomouc, Czech Republic. Among his book publications are Metzler Avantgarde Lexikon (ed. with W. Fähnders 2009), A Cultural History of the Avant-Garde in the Nordic Countries 1900–1925 (ed. with I. Hautamäki et al. 2012), Transnationality, Internationalism and Nationhood: European Avant-Garde in the First Half of the Twentieth Century (ed. with L. Głuchowska 2013) and Dada. Een geschiedenis (2016).

Günter Berghaus

is a Senior Research Fellow at the University of Bristol and has been Guest Professor at Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island, and the State University of Rio de Janeiro. He has been principal organiser of several international conferences and has held research awards from the Polish Academy of Sciences, the German Research Foundation, the Italian Ministry of Culture, the British Academy and the Brazilian Ministry of Education. He has published over twenty books on various aspects of theatre and performance studies, art history and cultural politics. His works have been translated into Chinese, French, Georgian, German, Hungarian, Italian, Japanese, Polish, Portuguese, Russian and Spanish. He currently serves as general editor of the International Yearbook of Futurism Studies, Handbook of International Futurism and of International Futurism 1945–2015: A Bibliographic Handbook.

Oliver A. I. Botar

is Professor of Art History and Associate Director at the School of Art, University of Manitoba in Winnipeg, Canada. His PhD (Toronto) was on Biomorphic Modernism and Biocentrism. The nexus of Biocentrism-Modernism, the Hungarian avant-garde, László Moholy-Nagy, Canadian Modernism and the origins of new media art have been his research focuses. He has lectured, published and curated exhibitions in Canada, the US, Europe and Japan. He is author of Technical Detours: The Early Moholy-Nagy Reconsidered (2006) and Sensing the Future: Moholy-Nagy, Media and the Arts (2014), as well as numerous articles, book chapters and exhibition catalogues. He is co-editor of Biocentrism and Modernism (with Isabel Wünsche, 2011).

Alexandra Chiriac

is an art historian specialising in histories of twentieth-century Modernism, with a focus on design and performance. During 2020–22, she was a Leonard A.

Lauder Fellow in the Leonard A. Lauder Research Centre for Modern Art at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York. She holds a PhD from the University of St Andrews and her research has been supported by numerous organisations, such the Arts and Humanities Research Council (UK) and the Hedda Sterne Foundation (USA). Her first monograph, entitled Performing Modernism: A Jewish Avant-Garde in Bucharest, was published open access by De Gruyter in 2022. She has been invited to present her research at numerous institutions, including Columbia University (USA), Masaryk University (Czechia), the A. I. Cuza University (Romania), the Romanian National Art Museum, and the Yiddishland Pavilion at the 2022 Venice Biennale.

Krisztina Zsófia Csaba

is an MA art historian, who received her degree from the Department of Art History of the Eötvös Loránd University, Budapest, and who also studied at the University of Vienna and at the Free University of Berlin. She has completed an internship at the Museum Ludwig in Köln and worked as a research assistant at the Kassák Museum in Budapest. Her BA thesis concerned the Book of New Artists (1922), an avant-garde anthology edited by Lajos Kassák and László Moholy-Nagy, while her MA thesis is entitled “Dada and Constructivism in East Central Europe in the Early 1920s”. Currently she is researching the relation between Dada and Constructivism.

Irina M. Denischenko is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Slavic Languages and the Women’s and Gender Studies Program at Georgetown University. She received her PhD from Columbia University in 2018. Her work focuses on twentieth-century literature and visual art – especially the avant-garde – on critical theory, and on women’s contributions to avant-garde and Modernist aesthetics in Central and Eastern Europe, including Russia. She has written on Czech Poetist image poetry, Mikhail Bakhtin’s aesthetics and epistemology, theories of the avant-garde, and the experimental cinema of Kira Muratova and Renata Litvinova, among other topics. She is currently completing her book manuscript Lyrical Nomadism, which examines the democratic potential of Vladimir Mayakovsky’s poetry and its legacies against theories of the novel and feminist-posthumanist thought, as well as a volume of new Bakhtin translations (with Alexander Spektor).

Iulia Dondorici

is a postdoctoral researcher in Romance Studies. She holds a PhD in Romanian Literary Studies from Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin. Her current research interests are: French and francophone avant-garde movements in the first half of the twentieth century, women writers and artists participating in Dada and Surrealism, literary multilingualism, as well as the elaboration of a transnational history of the avant-garde movements. Her published works include Den Körper schreiben: Poetiken des Körpers in der Prosa der rumänischen Moderne (2017), the edited volume Rumänien heute (2011), and Ost und West in der Romania / Entre Est et Ouest. Globale und regionale Vernetzungen der rumänischen Literaturen / Interconnexions globales et régionales des littératures roumaines (with Romanița Constantinescu, 2023). She is currently working on a book on Céline Arnaud.

Gábor Dobó

has been a research fellow at the Kassák Museum since 2015. He focuses on Modernist periodicals of the interwar period, with a special emphasis on the East and Central European region. Currently, he is the principal investigator of the research project “Digital Critical Edition of the Correspondence of Lajos Kassák and Jolán Simon between 1909 and 1928, and New Perspectives for Modernism Studies” (OTKA FK-139325). He is a committee member of the European Society for Periodical Research (ESPRit), and was the co-organizer of the 10th ESPRit conference in Budapest. In 2022, he was a Fulbright visiting scholar at the Harriman Institute of Columbia University in New York City. Previously, he studied at universities in Budapest (MA degree, 2011, PhD, 2018), Florence (MA degree, 2011), and Angers (visiting PhD student, spring semester 2014).

Györgyi Földes

is a PhD literary historian and critic. She works at the Literary Institute of the Research Centre for the Humanities and is editor-in-chief of Helikon, a journal of Cultural and Literary Studies. Her fields of research are nineteenth- and twentieth-century French literature, modern and contemporary Hungarian literature, the avant-garde, gender and theories of the body. She has published books on the anti-Impressionism of the Hungarian avant-garde in the 1910s: Hadüzenet minden impresszionizmusnak (A Declaration of War on Impressionism, 2006); on the symbolic poetics of classical modernism: Textus, szimbólum, allegória (Textus, Symbol, Allegory, 2012); as well as on representations of the body and the “Other” in literature: Test-szöveg-test (Body-Text-Body, 2018). In 2021, she published two volumes of essays. The first concerns women writers in the Hungarian avant-garde: Akit “nem látni az erdőben”: Avantgárd nőírók nemzetközi és magyar vetületben (The One “Not Seen in the Woods”: Avant-garde Women Writers in International and Hungarian Perspectives); the second highlights transnational ideas in historical and neo-avant-gardes: Avantgárd anzixsz: Transznacionális elvek és gyakorlatok az avantgárd és neo-avantgárd művészetben (Avant-garde Anzix: Transnational Ideas and Practices in Avant-garde and Neo-avant-garde Art).

Meghan Forbes

works as a researcher, curator, translator, and gardener. She is currently preparing her first book manuscript on the Czechoslovak avant-garde and technologies of print, and a second monograph on the full life of Míra Holzbachová. Previously, she was Postdoctoral Fellow in the Leonard A. Lauder Research Center for Modern Art, C-MAP (Contemporary and Modern Art Perspectives) Fellow at MoMA for Central and Eastern Europe, and Czech Lecturer at the University of Texas at Austin. She is the sole editor of International Perspectives on Publishing Platforms: Image, Object, Text (Routledge, 2019) as well as co-curator of Lucia Moholy: Exposures (Kunsthalle Prague, opening May 2024) and BAUHAUS↔VKhUTEMAS: Intersecting Parallels (Museum of Modern Art, 2018). Forbes holds a PhD from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Éva Forgács

is an art historian, critic, curator and Adjunct Professor of Art History at Art Center College of Design in Pasadena, California. She was curator at the Hungarian Museum of Decorative Arts, Professor of Art History at the László Moholy-Nagy University and has taught at the Eötvös Loránd University, Department of Aesthetics in her native Budapest. She was Visiting Professor at University College Los Angeles, the College of Santa Fe, and at OTIS College of Art and Design, Los Angeles. She was co-curator (with Nancy Perloff) of Monuments of the Future: Designs by El Lissitzky at the Getty Research Institute in 1998. She served as book review editor for Centropa, a New York-based scholarly journal of Central European art (2001–2015). Her books include Hungarian Art: Confrontation and Revival in the Modern Movement (2016), The Bauhaus Idea and Bauhaus Politics (1995), the co-edited volume Between Worlds: A Sourcebook of Central European Avant-Gardes (with Timothy O. Benson, 2002), Művészet veszélyes csillagzat alatt (Art under Dangerous Constellation), a selection of the writings of Ernst Kállai (1982), several monographs and two volumes of essays. She has widely published essays and reviews in journals, edited volumes, and catalogues.

Judit Galács

graduated from the Eötvös Loránd University in Art History in 2011, and received her MA in Central European History from the Central European University in 2014. Currently, she is a PhD student at the Art History Doctoral Program of Eötvös Loránd University. The topic of her dissertation is János Mácza and the history of Hungarian avant-garde theatre from 1915 to 1926. Her research interest includes the history of Hungarian avant-garde theatre between the two world wars, with a focus on the theatrical movements of East-Central Europe. Currently, she is an archivist at the Museum of Fine Arts – Central European Research Institute for Art History, Archive and Documentation Centre in Budapest.

Magdolna Gucsa

is a PhD art historian. Her research focuses on avant-garde movements of the first half of the twentieth century. She is mainly interested in the politics of artistic practices (creation, collection, criticism and institutionalisation) considered as “avant-garde” in its broad sense. In her PhD thesis, she examines how French and foreign art critics’ political arguments in favour of immigrant artistes gathered under the name École de Paris are crystallised in and transformed into aesthetic categories, via the principal example of Emil Szittyá. Her latest publications concern the avant-garde artist’s vagabondage as a déclassé, but emancipatory version of the grand tour, and its social, legal and cultural circumstances, as well as dreams induced by atrocity as sources of art.

Jasna Jovanov

is a full-time professor at the EDUCONS University, Sremska Kamenica, Serbia. Her research focuses on Serbian art history and fine art theory, highlighting some of the most crucial moments, such as confrontation between Serbian and European art of the twentieth century, aspects of Modernism, as well as avant-garde art practice. Her research has produced a large number of museum exhibitions, TV film screenplays, monographs and essays. She is also an art critic and interpreter of art history and fiction. She has worked in the Gallery of Matića Srpska, continued as the director of The Pavle Beljanski Memorial Collection and currently working as a full-time professor and dean of the EDUCONS University Fine Arts Academy. She has received numerous awards for her work.

András Kappanyos

is Scientific Counsellor and Deputy Director at the Institute of Literary Studies, HUN-REN Centre for the Humanities. In addition, he teaches literary history and theory as a professor at the University of Miskolc. Formerly he also taught at the University of Pécs, and in 2016–2017 he was Visiting Professor at Indiana University. His research interests include English and Hungarian literary Modernism, the avant-garde and translation theory. He has authored seven books (on T. S. Eliot, James Joyce, the avant-garde, Hungarian literary movements and, most recently, on translation studies) and edited several others, including a new edition of James Joyce’s oeuvre in Hungarian.

Michalina Kmiecik †

was working as a researcher in the Chair of Literary Theory and in the Centre for Avant-Garde Studies at the Faculty of Polish Studies at Jagiellonian University in Kraków. She published two books on the Polish and European avant-garde: Oblicza miejsca. Topiczne i atopiczne wyobrażenia przestrzeni w poezji Juliana Przybosa (Aspects of Place: Topical and Atopical Images of Space in the Poetry of Julian Przyboś, 2013), and Drogi negatywności. Nurt estetyczno-religijny w poezji i muzyce awangardowej w XX wieku (Paths of Negativity: The Aesthetic-Religious Tendency in Avant-Garde Poetry and Music in the Twentieth Century, 2016). From 2012 to 2015 worked on the project “Central and Eastern European Avant-Garde: Innovation or Repetition?”; in 2016 she began, with Iwona Boruszkowska, the project “Modes of Avant-Garde Behaviour”, financed by the National Center for Science in Poland. She has organised and participated in several lectures and discussions about Polish and foreign avant-garde practices, and presented her findings during conferences and in Polish academic journals.

Károly Kókai

is a lecturer at the Institute for European and Comparative Language and Literature Studies of the University of Vienna. His research interests include cultures of migration, avant-garde studies, and Central European cultural history. His publications include Ungarn: Geschichte und Kultur (Hungary: History and Culture, 2017) and Migration und Literatur in Mitteleuropa: Komparatistische Studien (Migration and Literature in Central Europe: Comparative Studies, 2018).

Emanuel Modoc

obtained his PhD from the Department of Comparative and Universal Literature at the Faculty of Letters, Babeş-Bolyai University, Cluj-Napoca, with a thesis on the networks of East-Central European avant-gardes. He is a Research Assistant at the Sextil Puşcariu Institute of Linguistics and Literary History, the Romanian Academy. He authored the volume Internaționala periferiilor: Rețeaua avangardelor din Europa Centrală și de Est (The International of Peripheries: Avant-Garde Networks of East-Central Europe, 2020) and edited the collected literary works of Surrealist poet Paul Păun (2020). His research interests include transnational literary networks, computational analysis and network theory.

Arndt Niebisch

received his PhD from the Johns Hopkins University with a thesis on the noise aesthetics of Italian Futurism and German Dadaism, published as Media Parasites in the Early Avantgarde (2012). He completed his Habilitation at the University of Vienna with a book on Heinrich von Kleist's life and work. In his research he deals with the intersection of literature and media from the eighteenth century to the present. He lives and works in Vienna.

Przemysław Strożek

is an Associate Professor at the Institute of Art of the Polish Academy of Sciences and an Associate Researcher and curator at the Archiv der Avantgarde, Dresden. He was a Fulbright fellow at the University of Georgia, a fellow at the Accademia dei Lincei in Rome and recipient of a Korea Foundation fellowship in Seoul. He is the author of several dozen academic articles, and published extensively his research on sport and the avant-garde, as well as on sport and contemporary art. Together with Andreas Kramer he has co-edited Sport and the European Avant-Garde (1900–1945) (Brill: 2021), and published a monograph Picturing the Workers' Olympics and the Spartakiads. Modernist and Avant-Garde Engagement with Sport in Central Europe and the USSR (1920–1932) (Routledge: 2022).

Merse Pál Szeredi

is an art historian, Director of the Petőfi Literary Museum–Kassák Museum in Budapest, and PhD candidate at the Eötvös Loránd University. His research focuses on the Hungarian avant-garde during the 1910s and 1920s, especially on Lajos Kassák and his magazine Ma (Today) in Vienna between 1920 and 1925. He has published essays in Hungarian, English and German in academic journals, edited volumes and exhibition catalogues; and he has curated several exhibitions in the Kassák Museum. He has co-edited a volume on Lajos Kassák's avant-garde journals entitled Art in Action (2018).

Jindřich Toman

is a Professor of Slavic Languages and Literatures at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. His research focuses on the avant-gardes of Central Europe, including the history of photomontage and modernist book design. A monograph on functional typography in interwar Czechoslovakia is among his current projects.

Edit Tóth

earned her PhD from Pennsylvania State University and she is currently Professor of Practice at University of Texas at San Antonio. She is the author of Design and Visual Culture from the Bauhaus to Contemporary Art: Optical Deconstructions (2018), which creatively reconsiders Bauhaus-related works in an unconventional light. Her work has appeared in English, Hungarian and German journals, including Grey Room and Modernism/Modernity, and in edited volumes including Bauhaus Imaginista (2019) and Von Kunst zu Leben: Die Ungarn am Bauhaus (2010). Her research engages the relationship between gender, design, architecture and photography; subjectivity and media image; interchanges between Western and Asian art; social practice; the migration of people and objects; and issues of technology and phenomenology.

Michael White

is a Professor of History of Art at the University of York, where he specialises in the history of European avant-garde art, architecture and design. He is best known for his publications on De Stijl and Dada; this dual interest was initially prompted by his doctoral research on the artist Theo van Doesburg. His books include De Stijl and Dutch Modernism (2003) and Generation Dada: The Berlin Avant-garde and the First World War (2013). Alongside these volumes, he published many articles, catalogue contributions, and essays and organised exhibitions on artists such as Theo van Doesburg, George Grosz, Piet Mondrian and Kurt Schwitters. His current research projects focus on the legacies of the avant-gardes and the intersections between art and law.

